MEMORANDUM

Office of the President

To: Whatcom Community College Board of Trustees

From: Kathi Hiyane-Brown, President

Date: January 11, 2017

RE: Recommend Changes to Whatcom Community College Policy 516

Overview

Academic Progress Policy 516 provides students and the College a way to determine when a student's academic performance is slipping. Under the current policy, indications of poor academic performance are determined by 1) a student's cumulative and quarterly GPA and 2) course completions. The purpose of this memo is to recommend revisions to the policies more structured requirements geared toward student success and retention.

The original changes to Policy 516 were approved by the Whatcom Community College Board of Trustees on June 18, 2014. These progressive changes were believed to increase the College's ability to identify student populations that are struggling academically. However, a significant number of exceptions or extenuating circumstances exist where the policy does not apply causing confusion, and inefficiencies for students and staff.

Issues

1. Identifying students at risk by recalculating S, P, and U grades is confusing for students and advisors and there is no easy way for students to access this information as it is not posted on transcripts nor can students recalculate it for themselves.
2. Calculating whether or not a student successfully completes 50% or more of their courses frequently requires laborious exceptions to be made. This portion of Policy 516 does not properly address the variety of reasons a student may drop a class and is unfair to part-time students who need to drop a class.
3. Restricting students on academic probation to 12 credits creates inequity and unrealistic scheduling barriers for students. Additionally, International Students are already exempted since Visas do not permit anything less than full-time.

Proposed changes

1. Remove S,U, and P grade from the GPA calculation
2. Remove the 50% course completion requirement
3. Allow students on probation to take more than 12 credits
4. Remove language from the policy describing how to implement satisfactory academic progress

Suggested Motion:

Move to adopt proposed changes to Policy 516.

TITLE: Academic Progress Policy
(NUMBER: 516 (formerly 3075)
APPROVED BY BOARD OF TRUSTEES: 6/18/2014

Whatcom Community College is committed to facilitating student academic success and completion of degrees and certificates. The purpose of the Academic Progress Policy is to recognize students in good academic standing and to intervene with students when low academic progress occurs. The following academic progress standards are intended to promote successful learning and alert students to potential problems in time to take corrective action toward completing their academic goals.

Academic Good Standing

- Students with a quarterly and cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 2.00 or higher.

Academic Warning

- Students with a quarterly GPA below 2.00 and a cumulative GPA of 2.00 or higher.
- Students after their first quarter at WCC with both a quarterly and cumulative GPA below 2.00.
- Students return to good academic standing when they achieve both a quarterly and cumulative GPA of 2.00 or higher.

Academic Probation

- Students with both a quarterly and cumulative GPA below 2.00 after a minimum of two consecutive quarters.
- Students remain on academic probation when their quarterly GPA is 2.0 or above and their cumulative GPA is below 2.00.
- Students return to good academic standing when they achieve both a quarterly and cumulative GPA of 2.00 or higher.

Academic Suspension

- Students with a quarterly GPA below 2.0 in a quarter subsequent to being on academic probation.
- Students are eligible to enroll in one class equal to 5 credits or less.
- Students are eligible to enroll in more than 5 credits if approved by the VP of student services or designee.
- Students return to good academic standing when they achieve both a quarterly and cumulative GPA of 2.00 or higher.

Course Repeats

Students must notify the registration office by email or by submitting a course repeat card through the registration office to exclude a repeated course grade from their GPA calculation.

 - The ASWCC and the Office of Student Life and Development held the “Great Orca Card Swap-out” event to help ease transitions into the new student ID cards. The event provided students with an easy way to pick up their IDs, gave students the opportunity to take photos with a cardboard cutout of a giant ID card, and provided resources to learn about WTA’s bus service. The ASWCC also collaborated with Mary Vermillion, Grace Jones, and WTA to get a session about WTA added to the new student orientation.

➤ Instruction—Curt Freed, Vice President

NSF-STEM Grant: (2.1 Improve instructional delivery, 2.2 Improve student learning, 5.2 Diversify and secure funding/resources from external sources)

- WCC has been recommended for funding for a Scholarships in STEM (S-STEM) grant from the National Science Foundation (NSF). WCC's S-STEM project is titled STEM Excellence through Engagement in Collaboration, Research, and Scholarship (SEECRS) and will be led by Tommaso Vannelli, full-time chemistry faculty at WCC. The SEECRS project, in the amount of $650,000 over five years, will provide invaluable financial and academic support to 36 low-income, academically talented WCC scholarship awardees. The SEECRS project will be characterized by a cohort experience, faculty mentors, student support services, and options for undergraduate research implemented cohesively using a guided pathways approach.

Strategic planning: (5.1 Foster an evidence-based culture of continuous improvement)

- 222 employees responded to the campus strategic planning survey, which will provide invaluable information for the continuing development of the strategic plan. In January, the strategic planning steering committee will review the survey, summarize findings, and develop and prepare a morning strategic planning activity for professional development day.

International Programs: (1.3 Increase access for diverse and nontraditional student populations, 4.3 Increase access for under-represented populations)

- Kelly Kester, Director of WCC's International Programs, traveled to Indonesia, Thailand and Nepal on a 13-day recruitment trip this past November. During that time, he met with several recruitment agencies in those countries, attended college fairs and other informational events in several cities, and met with a large number of prospective students (and their parents) who will be applying to Whatcom in the coming quarters.
Indonesia is a secondary but important market for Whatcom—behind China and Vietnam, who both send more students. Indonesian enrollments for the coming year appear to be holding steady.
Both Thailand and Nepal, although small markets, provide diversity to WCC's international student population.
Thailand is experiencing economic uncertainty and political unrest at the moment, and in general has a lower demand for a US education, all of which contribute to a smaller number of Thai students applying to Whatcom; however, they consistently send about 10 students to Whatcom.
Nepal is a fairly new market for WCC, although several Nepalese students attended Whatcom about 10 years ago. The Nepalese agency Kelly is working with is interested in sending quality applicants, not large numbers, but his presentations generated a lot of serious interest. He expects there will be many applications, although a relatively small number of students will actually be attending Whatcom.
- Whatcom is in the process of welcoming our largest intake of international students for a winter quarter. Students entering WCC this month come from China, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, South Korea, Pakistan, Taiwan, Thailand and Vietnam.

Workforce programs: (1.1 Increase student achievement in transfer and career preparation, 1.2 Increase academic support for students, 1.3 Increase access for diverse and nontraditional student populations, 4.3 Increase access for under-represented populations)

- Basic Food Employment & Training (BFET): The BFET program awarded $17,403.46 to WCC BFET students across fall quarter 2016 and has awarded $9,320.79 to date to students for winter quarter. These funds provide access, retention and completion support to low income professional/technical, ABE, ELL and High School Completion students. BFET also provided $10,000 toward the WCC Emergency Scholarship fund for fall and will provide the same amount for winter quarter for the general student population.
- Worker Retraining (WRT): Based on the current trajectory, WCC is at risk of missing by 11% its annualized target FTE of 54 WRT students. Contributing factors include improved economic conditions and fewer Unemployment Insurance (UI) claims. To counter, WCC is implementing new and/or improved strategies to identify students eligible for WRT support. Some of these strategies include: identifying all UI eligible WRT students on campus based on Employment Security Department monitoring reports; during fall quarter WCC presented at all UI orientations, kept a database of interested participants, and provided customized outreach; in winter quarter WCC staff will work with students in qualifying programs to offer a Funding and Support identification workshop.

This project is also funding development of a new behavioral health program at WCC.

- With remaining GenCyber grant funds, Whatcom's program will be hosting an on-campus workshop in February to help launch Ferndale School District's new student-run help desk. Workshop participants will be Ferndale and Windward high school students who will be "staffing" the help desk, and FSD instructors, introducing them to typical problems the students may encounter. The workshop will be informed by WCC's own innovative help desk program that has provided industry-like experience to many students for ten years. Internship opportunities will be available beginning in spring quarter for WCC'S CIS students to serve as mentors to the high school students and to help solve more complex customer issues.

What Interdependence and Indivisibility of Human Rights?" at the University of Padua in Padua, Italy. The aim of the conference was to "nurture a multi-disciplinary and multi-sectoral debate on the present and especially the future of human rights promotion, protection and implementation." Drawing from a diverse group of scholars from Europe, the U.S., India, Iran, and Australia, the conference panel presentations included the themes of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, addressing human rights issues from a local perspective, the pragmatic and paradigmatic challenges of integrating technology and human rights, issues of citizenship and human rights, and enabling human rights through multi-faceted endeavors. Guest speakers included the Italian President of the Inter-Ministerial Committee for Human Rights, the President of Amnesty International-Italy, and a United Nations Human Rights Council Advisory Committee Member. Danielle presented her research pertaining to the need for decolonial pedagogy within the humanities and social sciences, and specifically within the field of human rights education. Her research centers on the failure of higher education to incorporate non-Western and non-Eurocentric knowledge within these disciplines and to evaluate what academia deems to be valid sources of knowledge. The feedback and collaboration borne out of this conference has been both promising and instrumental in guiding her future research plans.

Student Leaders worked in advance to help students understand and agree to campus policies in order to promote a fun and safe event for WCC students. Over 100 students attended the event: 98 tickets were collected at the door and a team of 12 student staff and volunteers were in attendance. This was a very successful opportunity for the students to gather and build community within a safe and fun environment on a Saturday night.
- During the month of January, the Office of Student Life and Development participated in the 2017 Northwest Athletic Conference (NWAC) Mascot Challenge. The students invited the President's Cabinet to participate in a series of three weeks of photos and 30 second videos posted to the WCC Athletics social media pages. Students, faculty, staff, and friends of WCC were encouraged to vote for these entries by "liking" the posts on Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter. In the third week, we were succeeded by another school within the conference and were unable to compete further. Participation in this event allowed for great camaraderie of students and staff, creativity, promotion of school spirit, and awareness of the Orca Food Pantry.

This effort in partnership with Futures North West, WCC Outreach, and other area colleges and universities is focused on increasing access to college for needy and nontraditional students by increasing the number of high school students who complete the FAFSA or WASFA.

 - Washington Student Achievement Council (WSAC) State Approving Agency (SAA) and Washington Training and Education Board (WTEB) State Approving Agency (SAA) program review for the Bachelor's in Applied Science – IT (process to gain VA approval for this new degree). The process within the VA system has bogged down and Jarid is talking with the VA Regional Office in Seattle and Oklahoma to inspire a rapid approval. VA is behind in their catalog and new program reviews by over 6 months.
 - Bellingham VetCenter® is sending education referrals from Chapter Service Officers for veterans eligible under Operation Iraqi Freedom (OIF)/Operation Enduring Freedom (OEF) to Whatcom's Veterans Office. The VetCenter® are referring any veteran interested in education to Whatcom's Veterans Office for information and access to VA education benefits. Due to our reputation with veterans and the community, we will help veterans access benefits and educational referrals.
 - Whatcom's Veterans Services has experienced a spike in non-profit groups supporting veterans, national agencies supporting veterans, and non-student veterans visiting the office. The non-profit and national agencies are looking to garner participants and clients, while the non-student veterans are looking for companionship or access to VA benefits.
 - Veteran Services is still experimenting with the precise structure of our daily and weekly student meeting experiences. In fall 2016, we reduced drop-in meetings in lieu of a more personal advising experience (30 – 60 minutes, one-on-one, semi-private forum). Surveyed student veterans spring and summer 2016 and based off their feedback, implemented a more private advising approach to better support questions and situations that might make students uncomfortable to share in drop-in scenarios. Since the needs and nature of the student veteran population change quarterly, there will be on-going conversations to find the meeting structure that best support the needs of our current student veterans.

 - New Washington Area Health Education Center: (1.4 Introduce new opportunities for student learning and engagement, 1.3 Increase access for diverse and nontraditional student populations; 3.1 Increase college stature as a community and educational partner)

- Whatcom Community College received notice from the State Department of Health (DoH) that we were an “apparent successful bidder” for the Western Washington Area Health Education Center (AHEC). We were also alerted that the University of Washington-based WWAMI AHEC program office approved WCC for funding. (WWAMI is an acronym describing the states where UW works to train and prepare physicians to care for communities, and is made up of Washington, Wyoming, Alaska, Montana, and Idaho.) Pending successful contract negotiations, DoH will issue WCC a contract for $150,000 for the period of mid-February 2017 through June 30, 2017. In addition, UW will award WCC $80,000 per year. Approval of both funding streams (DOH and UW) is required to serve as the Western Washington AHEC, and DoH may renew the contract for up to five one-year periods. In this role, WWC will work closely with DoH, UW and other stakeholders to provide curriculum, training and service learning opportunities to health professionals in support of rural and urban medically underserved communities.
